DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

350 Main Street is a two story brick house four bays in length, closely oriented to the street, facing east; it has a two story brick rear wing. A one-story hipped roof porch extends across the principal facade and a one-story shed-roofed porch extends along the south side of the rear wing.

The two southerly bays facing the street and the adjacent or easterly portion of the rear wing comprise the original house, dating from the mid-nineteenth century. The principal entrance was in the southerly bay of the east front. The westerly bay (a single room) of the rear wing was added at a very early date. The rear wing originally had a shed roof falling to the south, perpendicular to the main house. In the mid-twentieth century, the two northerly bays of the front portion was added, the rear wing roof was raised to its present gabled form, a small one-story frame addition was added to the south side of the rear wing and another small one-story frame addition was added at the west end.

Brickwork is laid in common bond, every sixth course headers. Windows are 6/6 and some retain plain wooden lintels exposed externally. The original chimney rises at the north end of the original house, and a false one is flush above the later north gable. A modern exterior chimney is against the south gable. The chimneys of the rear wing have been removed.

The original house was but two rooms, one in each section. The front room of each story has a fireplace, and the mantels have pilasters of architrave material supporting a paneled frieze with plain end blocks. A large fireplace (now removed) is said to have been at the west end of the west room. The original stair (now removed) was against the north wall of the rear wing, rising to the east. In the unfinished attic, the straight-sawn oak rafters are half-lapped at the ridge and pegged. A cellar extends beneath the original house.

The north addition, doubling the length of the main house, consists of an entrance and stair hall, the open staircase of modern elements traditionally designed.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This house is located on the major portion of Lot #4 which Henry Weist administered upon John Reister's death. All in all, there were about 30 acres of land in Reister's estate. Weist divided it into 19 building lots and sold them all off between 1805-1811 (Marks, op.cit., 182).

The Lot #4 sold the lot originally to John Beckley (WG 113/243) in 1811. Between that date and 1842, the lot was divided and resold, but deeds have not been found to document these transactions. In 1842, Amy Choate sold the northern part of Lot #4 to Solomon Choate (TK 320/253-54) (Marks, op. cit., p. 182). The price was $100.00, so it is probable that no improvement was yet on the parcel.

When Solomon Choate died in 1861, this land was deeded by his wife, Elizabeth and daughter Maria R. Berryman (M. James Berryman) to the eldest daughter Mary Ann Owings. This occurred in 1863 (GHC 38/430). The property passed down through the Owings family. Francis O. Owings received it from his mother and then passed to his sister, Alice Elizabeth Owings (Wills WJP 27/342). The present owner purchased the house from Alice Owings (5400/706).
